Edmonton International Airport Activity Book for Children

Tips for Parents!

Save time by placing jewelry, watches, and other metal items in your carry-on baggage. If you are wearing metal items you may be required to undergo further screening.

Can you find all 4 sets of 3 metal objects hidden in the big grid below?
Remember to look up, down, and across both ways!

Remove liquid items, laptops, video cameras, and cameras from carry-on cases and place them in the trays provided.

You CAN Take it on the Plane!

If it is a liquid, gel or aerosol in an original container of 100 mL/100g (3.4 oz) or less you can take it on the plane. Put all your containers in one clear closed resealable plastic bag no bigger than 1 litre. One bag per person.

EXEMPTIONS from the 100 mL rule include baby formula, baby food, and milk or juice if travelling with children under 2 years old. Also, prescription medicine and essential non-prescription medicines are exempted. Passengers must declare all such items to security screening authorities. Additional screening could be required. No bag needed for exempt items.

RCMP at EIA

Did you know that EIA has its very own Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) officers that work at the airport to keep you safe? Pretty cool isn't it?! They even have their own police station right here at EIA!

EIA is also home to a police dog called Bond! She is a German Shepherd. Bond loved police dog training school and loves her job at the airport even more!

Bond is like an animal superhero with all the cool things she can do.

Bond can track bad guys with her nose and sniff out 15 different types of explosives!

Bond has super-power smelling abilities! If you could have any super-power what would it be?

Can you colour Bond's picture

Living Wall

What is a living wall? It is a whole wall made up of lots of square pockets. Inside each pocket is a plant. The plants clean the air that people breathe and everyone enjoys seeing the beautiful wall of plants.

EIA has the VERY FIRST living wall ever to be installed inside an airport terminal anywhere in the world!

Can you find your way to the centre of the flower beginning at the bottom of the stem?

Family Services

Nurseries equipped with change tables and nursing chairs are located after security in the Departures Lounge. All of the washrooms at EIA are equipped with changing tables.

Can you unscramble the letters into words? If you need a clue look at the pictures! After, you can colour the pictures and match them with the unscrambled words!

Central Tower

There is an air traffic control area at EIA built onto the tower. The tower is located close to the runways so the controllers can see the planes easily.

The air traffic controllers tell the planes when to take off and where to park when they arrive at EIA!

This is a drawing of the Central Tower. The outside of the tower looks like winter snow drifts!

ANSWER: (D)

Art

If you are travelling through the US departures lounge, you will see a big copper art sculpture (called Kopperscape) sticking out of the floor. You are allowed to sit on the seats there (if your mom or dad says it is okay).

There is a stage right in the middle where performers sing and play music. The art was created especially for EIA and you won't see it anywhere else in the world!

Apron

The apron is the whole area next to the airport building outside that all the planes park on. More planes can park next to the airport now because there are 9 new bridges which are like parking spots for planes!

Can you help the plane find its way through the maze to its parking spot here?

START

Solar Panels

Did you know that there are panels on the airport roof that absorb sunlight and turn it into energy to heat the water used in the airport? Isn't that smart?! Just like the airport, your house can be powered by the sun too!

Arts District Corridor

After your family visits the officer in the US Security area you can walk down a long hall. There's a big picture of downtown Edmonton made out of tile! It is called Everything Flows, Nothing Stands Still. There are over 90,000 tiles in the whole art piece.

Look closely in the tile art when you're at the airport and look at the word search below. Can you find all of the items/words listed in both the art and the puzzle? They're all there somewhere!
